He himself sinless, he took our nature. Accustomed to the pure atmosphere of his own bright home, He allowed his ears and eyes to be assailed by sounds and sight; beneath which they must have smarted.

1 Peter 5:10 Commentary | Precept Austin 1 Peter 5:10 After you have suffered for a little while, the God of all grace, who called you to His eternal glory in Christ, will Himself perfect, confirm, strengthen and establish you. John 1:1 - Wikipedia John 1:1 is the first verse in the opening chapter of the Gospel of John. In the Douay-Rheims, King James, New International, and other versions of the Bible, the verse reads: "In the beginning was the Word, and the Word was with God, and the Word was God. He was with God in the beginning. Through Him all things were made; without Him nothing was made that has been made. In Him was life, and the life was the light of men. The light shined in the darkness, and the darkness did not receive Him. That which was born of the Word was true, and He testified to what He had seen and heard, and His testimony no one received. He came into the world, and the world did not know Him, because He came to His own, and His own did not receive Him. He testified to what He had seen and heard, and His testimony no one received. He came into the world, and the world did not know Him, because He came to His own, and His own did not receive Him. He testified to what He had seen and heard, and His testimony no one received." Biblical inerrancy - Wikipedia The word inerrancy is formed from the word inerrant, from the Latin inerrantem, (being in- + errantem the present participle of errare to err or wander). It is defined by the Oxford English Dictionary as "That does not err; free from error; unerring.
